Can you hear me?

After school today I took Savannah today for her hearing test at the School District's Auditory Hearing Center, Centrella. I brought all of the girls and their lunches too. It has been a busy day running around today so we were eating lunch on the run!

We met with Mika, the nicest person who tested Savannah's hearing. Savannah tested in the sound booth and the results came out that Savannah's hearing is perfect.

Mika has an idea why the school nurse's hearing test came out that Savannah can't hear at 3000-4000hz. To make sure, Mika is going to have Savannah come in for annual hearing tests, and she also said why not bring the triplets in too since they were born premie...wouldn't hurt. So that will be our annual thing to do.
