Boston to Los Angeles

Mindy spent the night with us Sunday night and was a huge help with assisting us in cleaning the hosue and getting ready for our trip back to Los Angeles.

I did 3 loads of laundy Sunday night, packed all of the clothes in the boxes.

Mindy was a huge help Monday morning, vacuuming the carpets and helping me get the girls ready. We mailed out the boxes of clothes att he post office. We headed out at noon towards Boston airport.

We arrived in Boston, dropped off our minivan rental and checked in at the airport. They advised us the plane was running a half hour behind. Well that was much better, tell us before we board on the plane, and let us wait in the airport not on the plane for the delay.

The flight went well. The airline stewardesses got together and purchased me a little bottle of wine. Now how thoughtful was that? They said that I deserved it watching me entetain all of our 4 girls and keeping them quiet on the plane.

Sid our neighbor drove our minivan and met us at the aiport. Our plane was supposed to arrive at 10pm but arrived at 11:45pm instead. Long haul for all of us.
