Happy 2nd Birthday to Amanda, Miranda & Maryssa!!

Wow, I just can't believe I typed TWO. I have to say looking back a year ago, we have made so many wonderful memories and accomplishments this past year.

Today I have been reminiscing about the day I went into labor and all of the wonderful memories the day my precious trio was born. The day they were born was so scary and concerning for Cliff and I. To be honest, I don't think that ever truly goes away if you have a preemie baby or a full term baby or a single baby or triplets. You just worry all the time for your kids. Also, the day they were born I was exhilarated and relieved that my girls in the world making history in their lives and ours. Everyday doesn't go by that I am in awe of them in what they do and the love I have for them as well as for my precious little Savannah. I just LOVE having 4 girls. Daddy loves having 4 little Daddy's Girls too!!

I am so happy to see my 3 little girls turning 2 today. I can't believe how fast time has gone by!! Just remembering 2 years ago I went into labor and told Cliff I was really sorry that I couldn't hold them in any longer. It took him all day that day to sink in that he was going to share his birthday with his daughters that day and forever to come. For years to come his best and biggest birthday present was the birth of his 3 baby girls. Speaking of Daddy, we can't forget that today is Daddy's birthday too. Cliff has been on cloud 9 all day. He is thrilled to be turning 50 today. He feels like he is a lucky guy to get this far as a lot of his friends have passed away in the past 10 years and never made it to 50.

I am so grateful to The Lord for Blessing me with my precious girls. They define me, and I define them. I can't imagine life without my girls now.

Happy birthday my darling little trio and Happy Birthday to the love of my life- my husband who has helped make this all possible for all of us. I have to say my dear husband Cliff, has given me the most precious gift I could ever ask for - CELEBRAING MY DAUGHTERS BIRTHDAYS.

Lots of cake and candles glowing in our house tonight!!
