Having Fun at the Bowl

Today some long time friends of mine, Janet and Mike and their son, came over and we drove over to the Lakewood Park and Ride. We climbed aboard our party bus, and headed out to the Hollywood Bowl. We went to see Paul McCartney at the Hollywood Bowl!

Cliff stayed at home with the girls, he is not a huge concert fan. Saved us a ton of money on babysitting costs.

Paul performed for 3 hours straight - nonstop!! There were 3 encores, and he did 3 songs for each set of encores. It was bloody amazing. Hands down he is the best entertainer that I have seen in my life. He is so talented and actually got the audience to perform for HIM. Only a seasoned performer could get away with that!

He played a couple of songs that he said he had never played on American soil before. Then he played a song that he had written for his friend John Lennon. He also honored his other dear friend George Harrison. It was truly endearing.

We had a blast and lost our voices. Thank you Paul for giving us the time of our life!!
