Savannah is now officially a Daisy Girl Scout!

Today was a big day for our Daisy Troop - it was our Investiture Ceremony which formally announces that the girls have become Daisy Girl Scouts. All of the girls wore their Daisy Crowns that we made together in last week's meeting.

We had many parents and guests attend the ceremony. As I read what each daisy petal represented for the Daisy Girl Scout, each girl brought a petal of the daisy up to the felt board to make a complete Daisy.

Each girl said their girl scout promise and then was presented with their Daisy smock that had their 1st patch and Girl Scout medallion on it.

We finished the ceremony with everyone standing in a circle and doing the Girl Scout Friendship squeeze.

Then we had cookies and lemonade and took lots of pictures. What a wonderful day it was.

Savannah, my sweetheart, congratulations for becoming a Daisy. I am so proud of you!!
