Maryssa's last day of speech

Today is the last day of the school year for Maryssa's speech class. She will continue again in September and will go Monday and Fridays.

Today we brought her Speech teacher, Miss Shelly Marker, the baked cupcakes and cookies that we had decorated the night before when I babysat Corrie's kids. We also brought her a little vegetable garden that we had planted with seedlings with a little note that says "Thank you for helping me grow". We gave her a Thank you card with a $5 Panera Bread gift certificate in it.

Maryssa got to pick a prize from the treasure box. She had a fun day today at speech.

When we got home, my brother, Rob, showed up to help me prepare the Arabic food for tomorrow's party. He was such a huge help!

Feli, previously our nanny who now comes once a week to tidy the house for a few hours, came over to tidy things up for me in preparation for tomorrow's party.

Then Rob and I went out to dinner and had sushi and went for a nice walk in the neighborhood.

It was a nice day!!
