This is in dedication to a friend of mine

This friend of mine has been on my mind for weeks now and today I received some news that fills me with so much sorrow. A friend of mine who was pregnant with twins faced a very painful loss of her babies. There was an out pour of support from many women that have become her friends through her journey of trying to conceive her babies. Many prayers were spoken, candles lit, phone calls of support made between all of us.

My dear friend, you have touched our lives so deeply and I think a silver lining that I would like to say is, I think this has brought an incredible group of the most loving and wonderful ladies, even closer together. It has also touched other women that have sought out to give you support. The Lord brings good out of bad and I have to take comfort and have faith in that.

Every one of us care so much and want to do whatever we can for you. So please know you have true friends that genuinely love you, respect you, and thank God you are in our lives.

I came across this poem that just couldn't leave my mind. It did make me cry but it really made a lot of sense to me. It exudes my true belief that these sweet and precious babies are in Heaven in The Lord's gentle hands. God Bless these sweet, precious angels. My dear friend, even though I never got to meet these sweet babies, my heart feels full of emotions for both of your babies and you too. I want to make a dedication entry in my blog for you and your babies and I am including this dedication poem for them. Here it is:

I'm just a little baby
who didn't quite make it there;
I went straight to be with Jesus
but I'm waiting for you here.

Don't you fret about me mommy
I'm of all God's most blessed I'd have loved to stay there with you but Heavenly Father knows what's best.

Many who dwell here where I live waited years to enter in,
they struggled through a world of sorrow and their lives were marred with sin.

So sweet mommy don't be sad,
wipe those tears and chase the gloom,
I went straight to be with Jesus,
from my lovely mothers womb.

Thank you for the life you gave me,

---

it was brief but don't complain;
I have all of heaven's glory suffering none of the world's pain.

Thank you for the name you gave me,
I'm thankful for all you've done.
I'll be waiting here for you in heaven up above.

I would have loved to stay with you,
And lived life by your side,
But the Lord has called me home,
I know it's hard to understand why.

Thank you mommy for making me,
You made me out of love,
I can't wait for the day I see you again
So you can see what I've become.

I'm an angel here in heaven,
The Lord's here by my side,
He wants me to let you know
He's sorry he made you cry.

He has a plan for me up here,
And a plan for you here too,
Someday we'll be together again,
And this I know is true.
