My Sweet Savannah LOVES candy!!

Every hour of the waking day Savannah comes to me asking for candy. These are some of the code words:
"square candy" aka Starburst
"bear candy" aka chewable vitamins in the shape of bears
"worm candy" aka gummy worms
"white cookie" aka the white and pink ice animal cookies by Mother's
"angel candy" aka candy from Japan that has a Buddha man on the box and it reminds her of an angel

I tell her she can have a candy if she eats a banana first or something healthy. Other times I tell her no, that candy isn't supposed to be eaten all day long. She is taking after her daddy, a junk food junkie! I love my sweet addicts :-)
