Back to school night for Savannah's school

Today is Savannah's back to school night. The classroom theme is dogs and it was filled with all of the cute art projects that the kids did. I went around and looked at all of Savannah's artwork and projects that she had done. I saw her desk and wrote her a little love note and slipped it in her pencil box and then placed it in her desk. Hopefully that will surprise her tomorrow morning.

So the teacher went over the class curriculum. Afterwards, she met with parents and discussed any of their concerns. I spoke to her and she was quite negative about Savannah's attention in class. I didn't hear one positive thing that she told any of the teachers. I think positive reinforcement is not just important for the child, but for the parents as well. We all want our kids to do well in school.
