Categories: Mom's Corner

Busy day for us!

We set out early to drive up to The Vermont Teddy Bear Factory. This was the girls 3rd time going. It was Taylor's 1st time going. We took everyone on the Teddy Bear tour. They had a blast.

Then each girl picked out her own bear and bear outfit and got to stuff it and help sew it closed. They put a heart inside the bear before putting the stuffing in the bear. It is finished off when they fill out the bear's birth certificate on when the bear was born. So cute!

Then we headed ot Ben & Jerry's for a tour of the world's fantastic ice cream factory. We got to try a new flavor of ice cream....it has delicious choclate bears in it...yummy!

The girls picked out their cute tye-dye shirts and got a few other fun stuff.

Then we headed to Burlington and went to Church St. to go shopping. Taylor wanted to head to Old Navy. We shopped there and she found a cute outfit. I found some cute things for the girls too.

We were all hungry and went to a fun place, similar to Benihana's. The food was not as good as Benihana's though. It was a fun experience for Taylor, she had never done anything like that before.

Then we drove Taylor home. It was a fun filled day and we didn't get home till midnight. Wow!

Date: 12-07-2010