Christmas Holiday Ballet Recital

Today was the girls Christmas Holiday Ballet Recital. They wore their pretty Christmas dresses that I got for them for our Family Holiday Portraits. They all looked so pretty.

I baked and decorated 4 dozen Christmas cupcakes. I also brought dip with crackers and a tin of different flavored popcorns. When we arrived in the auditorium, I was so surprised to see so many people. The ballet teacher mentioned there would be about 48 people...I would say there was about 150 people!! There were 5 tables full of all kinds of food and lots of hungry people since it was noon lunch time. There was not enough food to feed everyone.

Anyway, the recital was beautiful. Miranda didn't listen to the teacher and wandered off...the little stinker. This is exactly why I have her in ballet lessons...to listen to instructions from a teach!! Savannah did really well and Maryssa and Amanda followed the dance pretty well too.

I am so proud of my little princesses!!
