Fun in Hollywood Hills

Sunday we caravan-ed with Steve and the family to Hollywood Hills. Mindy was awed by the high profile area. We drove along Laurel Canyon.

When we arrived, it was at this amazing house!! The entry had a fountain full of fish nestled in a bunch of rocks. The girls perched themselves there and had a ball. There was a circular stair case and the party was happening upstairs. We all went upstairs and were greeted by all of Cliff's family - his siblings, parents, grandparents and numerous cousins. He has a cousin who has triplets so the kids had a ball playing with the other triplets!!

The house was super sleek, decorated in Mardi Gras theme with blacks, hot pinks, golds and mirrors!! It was truly an art form. With so many people in the house, it made it unbearably hot. Everyone was sweating profusely.

We e left at about 5pm and headed back on the 101-south back to our house in La Habra.

What a great vacation we had. Relaxing, cool and lovely. Thank you so much Steve and Reyna for making us feel loved and like family.
