Happy Valentine's Day

Today was a gorgeous day!! Sunny blue warm skies. A great day for a Valentine's party!! I baked heart shaped Valentines cookies for the kids to decorate in the afternoon.

I arranged to surprise the girls and have a bouncy house delivered for them to play in today. When the bouncy house was set up, the girls freaked and screamed with joy. They all ran out and immediately dove into the jumper!!

I also invited my friend Corrie and her kids too. Her kids didn't know about the bouncy house so when they arrived, they were totally surprised!!

I had pizza delivered and we had ice cream sundaes for dessert.

What a great Valentine's Day!!
