Hello Panties for Amanda!!

Amanda has not had any pee pee or poop accidents during the day or night. She wears panties during the day at home. When we are not at home, she wears a pull up just in case. At night she wears a pull up just in case she has an accident in the middle of the night.

For the past week her pull up has been dry in the morning. She is completely dry!! So we are making a huge step and starting to have her go to bed with panties.

In the next week I will see how she does wearing panties outside of the house. If she can stay dry, then I think she will be fully graduated and considered fully potty trained.

I am so proud of our precious Amanda. We love you so much sweetheart!!!
