

Categories: Amanda

Merry Christmas!!

Last night I dressed the girls in matching Christmas pajamas that I had purchased from JCPenney's in November during their Door Buster Sale. They all looked so cute.

Unfortunately, Amanda and Savannah got sick in the middle of the night. They had a stomach bug. So I had to change their cute Christmas pajamas. Maryssa was sick a couple of nights ago and was throwing up through the night. They must have caught it from her. Anyway, the girls are fine now so all is good!1

Last night Cliff put together the triplets Mermaid Tricycles. They have a cute bubble and music machine. The girls went crazy for them this morning. These were supposed to be the triplets birthday present back in August, but Cliff was in Arkansas working for 6 weeks and was not here during their Birthday party to put them together, so I just hung onto them for Christmas.

The triplets got digital cameras by Discovery Kids. I had scored big time on these cameras at Bed Bath & Beyond. The cameras were on sale for $30 and I had coupons and saved $30 so I spent $60 for all 3 cameras...woo hoo!! I also got Savannah a real video camera and got it cheap for $25.

Savannah got a neat VTech Pocket handheld video game package. It is a little advanced for her but she will grow into it.

All of girls got Leap Frog Learn To Read Books.

They had a great Christmas.

Dad and Fran came this afternoon. We went for a nice walk. They enjoyed interacting with the girls. I made a nice lunch - homemade tomato & rice soup and grilled cheese sandwiches.

We had a nice dinner together. I baked chicken. We watched the movie Julie and Julia tonight.

Date: 25-12-2009