

Categories: Mom's Corner

Mommy broke her middle finger yesterday

Yesterday morning at 8:30am I was getting clothes out of the triplet's closet. The closet has doors that slide. Once in a while I might have to pull the door a little hard to get it to slide. I did this and then the door slide over very fast and I couldn't get my hand out quick enough and,,,WHAM!! The finger go slammed in the door,.

Can I just say #@!&*(OUCH!!! The pain was so ridiculously bad that I cried big crocodile tears, I put ice on it immediately and elevated my arm. Throughout the day it turned purple and got really swollen. It looked like a giant purple tootsie pop on my finger!!

I went to Urgent Care last night and the dr. ordered X-Rays. Sure enough, I broke the bone in the tip of my middle finger. I got a finger brace and a prescription for Ibuprofen. It will take 6 weeks for the bone to mend and 3 weeks for the blood to absorb and the purple and blue marks to go away. Nice.....

It is so hard to change diapers and clothes on the girls. Ugh!!!

Date: 04-04-2009