Categories: Mom's Corner

Poor Cliff has to work today

Cliff has been working very hard and many hours...17-20 hours a day and there was a day he worked 24 hours trying to complete a project at work that is critical. We all miss him. It has been very challenging these past couple of weeks trying to get ready for the Holidays with Cliff being gone working so much.

He didn't get to see Dad or Fran today. He won't be getting home till 3:30am. I feel so sorry for him.

We all saw Avatar today. That is a LONG movie. I am not really into Science Fiction and I couldn't really get into the movie. I will have to sit down another time and watch it without the chaos of the kids.

Fran and I saw the movie Precious. Wow!! From the get go that movie pushes the envelope. Lots of disturbing scenes. It breaks my heart to know that this is based on a true story. Very graphic movie!!

I am feeling sick tonight and so is Miranda. I think we caught what the other girls had - ugh!!

Date: 26-12-2009