Pretty followed by ugly

This morning the girls and I began cleaning out the front yard garden. I am ashamed to say that I had fake flowers in our garden. Even worse, they were faded and really ugly. It took over an hour to clean up the garden.

This was the girls first time gardening and planting flowers in our front yard. I showed them how to dig a hole in the ground, then place the flower in the hold, then cover the hold with dirt. We planted about 12 flowers. It looks so pretty!!

Then a few hours later, my right abdomen and right rear back was hurting,,,really bad. It became waves of unbearable pain...worse than child labor pains. I threw up, the pain was so bad. I worked through it for about 5 hours and then it subsided. Ugh...this was a horrible kidney stone causing me ugly pain...
