

Categories: Mom's Corner

Savannah got an award today

I picked up Savannah from school today. She proudly showed me a pink button pinned on her shirt. She smiled and said she got an award for having perfect attendance at school. I hope she can continue the trend. I would love her to have a perfect attendance by the end of the year.

Way to go Savannah!! She is really doing great in school and making friends such as Tess, Lauren, Emily and Summer. Summer can be a bit mean and tells Savannah she can't be her friend sometimes. I think I am going to talk to Summer's teach about it...this needs to be mentioned to Summer's mom, I think.

Date: 12-11-2009