Savannah's Day at Preschool

Today was Savvy's last day of preschool. I am the room mommy and I coordinated a really neat year end party for the kids. She has an early class 8:30am-11:30am and there is a later class after Savvy's 10:30am-1:30pm. I brought cookies, frosting and decorations for the kids to decorate cookies. I provided a fun coloring project where they had to locate 10 diamonds in a picture and color them. They all got a prize for completing it even if they didn't find all of the diamonds. I made fish shaped cheese sandwiches. I contacted all of the parents and they brought food for the luncheon. I also had each parent pitch in $5 and we got each teacher a gift certificate from Target. I also gave Mrs. Van Vliet a gift certificate to Michael's. We baked each teacher a gigantic chocolate chip cookie with frosting as a present from Savannah. It was a wonderful day! Savvy will go to summer school starting on Monday June 16th and to for 2 weeks. She goes to Meadowgreen School. We love her preschool class and teachers!!
