Categories: Mom's Corner

Savannah's last day of speech

Today is a huge milestone for Savannah. When she was just turning 3 years old, I had her evaluated for speech, development, and physical delays. She met all of the criteria at the tender young age of 3 and attended Meadow Green school Special Ed Preschool. Her all time favorite and unforgettable preschool teacher was Mrs. Van Vliet.

Mrs. Van Vliet is an amazing teacher and speech pathologist that specializes in helping children meet the goals in delays. She did a exceptional job preparing Savannah for Kindergarten.

So Savannah entered Kindergarten taking speech twice a week. This year she has progressed well and the result from our IEP meeting a few days ago meant that today is Savannah's last day of speech.

This morning I decorated pretty, summery cupcakes to bring and surprise her in speech class. We are going to party..this is a huge accomplishment for Savannah!!

Savannah received a beautiful graduation certificate at her party. It put tears in my eyes. I am so very proud of my sweet Savannah!!

Date: 28-05-2010