Stop and smell the roses

Today we went on a tour of Armstrong Garden Center that I organized with my La Habra Moms Club. At first, they forgot about our tour, but then a really nice man came to give us the tour.

There were beautiful zen-like koi ponds with water fountains, bamboo and banzai trees. He showed the kids lemon trees with little flowers and budding lemons. Then we went over to the flowers and vegetable plants. He then surprised the kids and let them each pick out a 4 inch flowering pot!! What a pleasant surprise. The girls picked out the most beautiful flowers that we will plant in our front yard garden. We also picked out a strawberry plant and , a cherry tomato plant, and a squash plant. Savannah wanted to pick out some seeds and she got sunflower seeds and I got some cucumber and eggplant seeds.

It was a beautiful sunny day and perfect for our tour!!
