We just got the Little Tikes Crashing Waves Water Park

This is the COOLEST water slide!! I am planning the triplets and Cliff's birthday party which will be held in August. It is the HOTTEST month of summertime here. So I thought I would get a fun water slide for the kids to play on for the birthday party. I also have a bounce house that we bought for Savvy's 2nd birthday party a couple of years ago that we will be using for the triplets birthday party. We also have a Jumpolene which is like a trampoline for the kids to play on.

The Little Tikes Waterslide is $349 - $400 everywhere I searched online. Then I went to www.Craigslist.com and found a brand new one in the box for $200 and it was only 1 mile from our house. How lucky was I !! I have not had a babysitter for almost a month so I saved my babysitting money to purchase the water slide. Turns out, yesterday we attended a play date with my mom's club and they had the same water slide! It was so cool. The kids were having a blast in it. So, I think this will be a hit for the birthday party.
